How distributions are taxed

In general, distributions made to a U.S. taxpayer are subject to federal income tax if contributions were not taxed at the time they were made. Thus, an individual generally pays income tax on any part of her or his distribution that is attributable to regular employer dues and contributions, investment earnings and tax-sheltered contributions on which income taxes have not previously been paid.

Housing allowance

You may not have to pay tax on that portion of the annuity or other distribution, if any, that may be considered a housing allowance paid to a retired minister. Under IRS rules, the clergy housing allowance ends at the member's death. IRS rules do not allow beneficiaries to claim it for the period of the year following the member's death.

If no after-tax contributions were made toward the deceased's annuity

The amount in Box 5 of Form 1099-R is recorded as "0" or left blank. If the Pension Boards' records show that the deceased made after-tax contributions to their account, you will receive under separate cover a letter indicating the amount of the after-tax contributions.

Determining allowable housing expenses

If no amount is shown in Box 5 of Form 1099-R, you may subtract the allowable housing expenses for the year from the gross distribution found in Box 1 of Form 1099-R. (Use the enclosed Supplementary Sheet #1). The difference between housing allowance and gross distribution constitutes the taxable portion of the annuity or other distribution, if any, which should be entered on Line 4b of Form 1040, along with the words, "SEE SUPPLEMENTARY SHEET #1."

If the deceased owned his or her own home, the allowable housing expenses are the lesser of:

1. The reasonable value of a year's rent for the home including furnishings and cost of utilities, or
2. What the deceased actually spent for that home in 2018 for the following expense items:
 - Down payment Down payment
 - Mortgage payments (principal and interest) on a loan to buy or improve your home
 - Real estate taxes
 - Property insurance
 - Utilities (electricity, gas, water, trash pickup, local telephone charges)
 - Furniture and appliances (purchase and repair)
 - Structural repairs and remodeling
 - Grounds maintenance and improvements
 - Maintenance items (household cleaners, light bulbs, pest controls, etc.)
 - Homeowners' association dues

Cautions

If the deceased was renting a house or apartment, the amount of the allowable housing expenses can be up to the year's rental costs, plus the cost of utilities and value of furnishings and any items from the above list that the deceased actually had to pay. If he or she had more than one home, only expenses from the primary residence may be used in computing allowable housing expenses.

If the deceased was receiving a housing allowance from another source, the total of that housing allowance and the portion of his or her Pension Boards annuity designated as housing allowance cannot exceed the lesser of the amounts in (1) and (2) above.

If he or she receive more than one pension or other distribution, if any, housing costs can only reduce taxes on the benefit from the Pension Boards. Please contact the payer of the other pension to determine taxability.

After computing allowable housing expenses

- Insert the gross amount of the Pension Boards annuity from Box 1 of Form 1099-R in Line 4a of Form 1040.
- Insert the allowable housing expenses in Line 2 of Supplementary Sheet #1 and complete the remainder of that sheet.
- Transfer the amount in Line 3 of Supplementary Sheet #1 to Line 4b of Form 1040, followed by the words, "SEE SUPPLEMENTARY SHEET #1." This is the portion of the annuity or other distribution, if any, that is in excess of the allowable housing expenses and therefore subject to federal income tax.

If you did not receive information from the Pension Boards reporting the deceased's after-tax contributions (or if you wish to disregard them), and his or her only pension or other distribution was from the Pension Boards, you may use a completed copy of the enclosed Supplementary Sheet #1 as an attachment to the return. Be sure to retain a copy of the completed Supplementary Sheet #1 for your records.

Any income tax withheld from the Pension Boards annuity or other distribution, if any, is shown on Form 1099-R. Attach Copy B of Form 1099-R to the return to show the amount of tax withheld.

If after-tax pension contributions were made

If after-tax pension contributions were made and housing expenses exceed the annuity or other distribution, if any, under law you may be able to lower taxes because the portion of the annuity provided by after-tax pension contributions is not taxed. Please consult a tax advisor familiar with clergy tax rules if this situation applies.

Supplementation and Ministerial Assistance

Supplemental gift checks received from the General Synod Plan of Supplementation of Small Annuities (administered by the Pension Boards) are not taxable. This income is not included in Form 1099-R and does not need to be reported.

If the deceased was disabled and under age 55

If the deceased was receiving disability pension benefits and was under age 55 during the entire 2018 year, Distribution Code 3 appears in Box 7 of Form 1099-R. These payments should be reported (along with other wages, salaries, tips, etc.) on Line 1 of Form 1040. Disability benefits should not be reported as pension or annuities prior to when the deceased reach age 55, the minimum non-disability retirement age for the Annuity Plan for the United Church of Christ.

Disabled ministers also may be eligible for the housing allowance exclusion.

For member whose annuity(ies) commenced in 2018 and who elected a partial withdrawal option at retirement

The amount distributed in 2018 under the Partial Withdrawal Option is considered an eligible rollover. If you chose to have this distribution made as a direct rollover, no income tax was withheld and you will be issued a separate Form 1099-R for that distribution with distribution Code G appearing in Box 7 of Form 1099-R.

Self-employment (Social Security) tax on pension income

Housing allowance provided to retired ministers from a church pension plan is not subject to self-employment (Social Security/SECA) taxes. No self-employment tax is required to be paid on any part of your Pension Boards annuity or other distribution, if any.

Electronic filing

If you choose to file your tax return electronically, please be certain that the program used to prepare your taxes provides a means to add supplementary documentation.
